

The Oregon Model

2017-18

We want to empower you to nurture and maximize the strength of every child within your school. We have chosen to respond courageously to the investment and partnership with Loma Linda University to become a model conference in tenaciously pursuing our original purpose and blueprint for Adventist Education.

We are excited to embark on this journey with all of our teachers. Our first stage is to have every teacher committed and working toward the goals of an Oregon Teacher. If any teacher or school wants to move on to a STREAMS Teacher or a STREAMS School, just let us know how we can best support you!

Oregon Teacher	STREAMS Teacher	STREAMS School
Implements One Project	Implements Two or More Projects	All Teachers are STREAMS Teachers
Plans with Project Design Template	Plans with Project Design Template	Plans collaboratively with Project Design Template
Uses BIE Gold Standard Project Design Rubric	Uses BIE Gold Standard Project Design Rubric And Uses BIE Gold Standard Project Based Teaching Rubric	Uses BIE Gold Standard Project Design Rubric And Uses BIE Gold Standard Project Based Teaching Rubric
Student Learning Outcomes are focused on the 4 C's	Student Learning Outcomes are focused on the 4 C's	School-wide Outcomes are focused on the 4 C's
Incorporates TAO Service Component	Incorporates TAO Service Components	Consistent Community Presence of TAO Service
Active collaborative learning with an OC PLC	Active collaborative learning with an OC PLC	All Teachers participate in active collaborative learning with an OC PLC
		Teachers within school work collaboratively on Interdisciplinary Projects
		School-wide Performance Assessment

"Change is not always a process of improvement. Sometimes it's a process of invention. When Thomas Edison invented the light bulb, he didn't start by trying to improve the candle. He decided that he wanted better light and went from there."
Wendy Kopp

Our vision for moving forward through PBL is not the completion of a project, but a paradigm shift in how and what every student learns.